

BANGABASI COLLEGE MAGAZINE.

প্রতিপাতেন পরিপ্রশ্নেয় সেবয়া

By Reverence : By Questioning : By Service.

VOL. XXV.

OCTOBER, NOVEMBER & DECEMBER,
1927.

NO. II.

NOTES.

The College closed for the Puja holidays on Thursday the 29th September, and re-opened on Monday the 31st October on which date work commenced in right earnest in all the classes. With this issue of the Magazine, we offer our hearty Bejoya greetings to our readers.

Just on the eve of the Puja Vacation three pleasant functions were performed by our students. There came first of all the Canning Hostel Anniversary with Mr Justice Manmatha Nath Mukherjee in the chair. It was followed by the Amherst Street Mess Union Anniversary presided over by Prof. Lalit Kumar Banerjee. Last of all there came the Autumn Social of the College students in which our Principal had to play the role of the Master of the Revels. Each of these social functions, it is needless to add, had a most varied and interesting programme consisting of music, songs, comic skits, recitations, and representation of some well-known dramatic piece, or selected scenes, suited to the occasion. The College Autumn Social owes its success to the untiring energy of our friend and colleague Prof. N. C. Banerjee, President of the College Students' Association, and to our young friend Sj. Kanailal Basu of the 4th year B. A. Class who, as Secretary of the Association, has so ably conducted it over stormy times. The importance of these social functions which are now an integral part of college life, cannot be too much emphasised. They are welcome both for their educative value and for the relaxation they afford to the teacher and the taught after such a severe strain of college-work. Our heartiest thanks therefore go to the organisers of these socials who are trying to sweeten the monotonous routine life of an academic institution.

no"
