

vote of thanks to the chair proposed by Prof. J. N. Chakravarti, the ceremony came to an end, not however before the guests had been treated to light refreshments.

The Amherst Street Mess Union celebrated its third anniversary immediately before the Pujā Vacation in the Hall of the Mess., Prof. J. N. Chakravarti presiding. Almost all the old boarders graced the occasion with their presence. There was a most interesting programme of entertainment consisting of music, songs, comic skits etc., all performed with uniform excellence. The function terminated late at night with a heavy dinner given in honour of the guests of the evening.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS.

As we remarked in the last issue, of the magazine the results of our Football activities are not worth recording at all. Towards the close of the season, however, our boys seemed to have recovered their spirit and form once more, for they beat the Presidency College boys by a distinct margin, in the Inter Collegiate League Competition.

The G. C. Bose Challenge Cup Competition was however played right through in a thoroughly sportsmanlike spirit. It is an inter-class competition, and the boys take a keen interest in it, because it offers an opportunity to almost every student footballer to display his skill in the field. Following is a brief statement of this year's results of the competition:—(The number of goals scored by each side has been put within brackets).

FINAL.

15. Canning Hostel (1) vs. 2nd year D (0).

The final was played on the Mohanbagan ground on the 14th September. The ground was in a wretched condition, being slushy to the extreme. Good football was out of the question. The game was supervised by Prof, J. N. Chakravarti. The exchanges were fast and exciting, and all the players seemed to mind their business inspite of the wretched turf. Two minutes before the final whistle Mr. D. Mazumder of the Hostel took advantage of a nice corner and drove the leather in amidst the loud applause of the Hostel men who had mustered strong on the lines, and this decided the game for inspite of repeated efforts the Second Year men failed to equalise. At the end of the game Prof. J. N. Chakravarti congratulated both the winners and the runners-up for their nice display of sportsman-like spirit on the field. He then awarded the trophy to the captain of the Hostel team, after which all the players were
